The New York Daily Bulletin of the 23d says of the cotton trader The current receipts of cotton leave hit-the room for doubt that the highest esti-mates of the extent of the crop will be realized. The receipts, from September 1, 1869, to the close of last week, reach 2,710,000 bales, against 2,020,000 bales for the corresponding period of last year, showing an increase of 15 per cent. There remains but 281,000 bales yet to be received to bring up the crop to 3,000,000 bales, which would require an average of 20,000 bales per week from now to September 1st. Considering that the average arrivals for the last five weeks have been 47,000 bales, and that those for last was were 44,000 bales, the most three controls. week were 44,000 halos, the question is not so much whether the receipts for the re-mainder of the cotton year will reache this 20,000 bales, as whether they will not exceed that average, and so carry up the total crop beyond 2,000,000 bales. Last year, the receipts between May 20th and Secretarian late were 420,000 bales, or an average of 30,000 bales per week. The same ratio of receipts for the same period this year would bring up the total cop to about 3,140,060 bales; so that we may have a liberal falling off in the arrivals for the next tew weeks and yes puller an aggre-gate crop of 3,060,000 bales. The stock of cotton at the interior has declined from 86,700 bales on April 1st, to 39,700 bales on May 20th; the decline much less this year than lest. At present, the slocks at the interior are 28,20 siles higher than a year ago, which is an illustion in favor of the future receipts seing well sustained, as compared with

At this season, there is necessaril much uncertainty as to the probabilitie of the growing crop. It is generally con-roled that the area planted materially exceeds that of hat year. Yet, at the some time, there are possibilities, on nected with the weather, which render uncertain whether the labor supply and to perfecting the wholecrop planted, with rainy weather for the next two e secured to clean the land, and in that event's certain portion of the crop would be tost. The Financial Chronicle very properly remarks;

"There is an evident disposition to look at the area planted and then pass directly over to the autumn, and with fine weather at that period to expect a large yield; chereas, unless we have a favorable sun evelop 'even,' and chopping out and firs and second plowing and cleaning be limely, the labor supply would find it impossible to handle the crop, and it would be short, notwithstanding the autumn was splended and no frost till Jan-nary. Hence we say the first question must be, what is the smoont of land under cutton taken into the middle of July in good condition? Settle that point, and then one very important step in the progreat of the crop has been secured. But the planting of more or less land is, with our present supply of labor, of little sig-nificance putil that point is reached." Assuming that the weather should prove in all respects pavorable, and that the crop suffers only to the average ex-tent from the worm, there can be little doubt that the yield of the new crop will exceed that of 1860-70. Under any cir-cumstances, it can hardly be reasonably expected to prove less.

TRADE. This has been a very quiet day in the general markets and prices were a little off on many articles, owing, probably, to the light demand. Corn continues at the light demand. Corn continues at about the same figures, and Flour is unchanged, but Hay, Oats, Bran and Meats are dull. Of the latter a Cincinnati provision circular of the 24th says; "There is but little if any change to note in provisions since mine of 10th, except that There is a light demand from all quarters; nothing is doing beyond a jobbing trade. It may take one or one hundred years, before the seeds bear their sad froit, but just as sure as the seeds of death ripen, life ceases. Purging is the grand safegrard, because then what fosters the seeds of death are taken away, expelled from the body.
